MEMORANDUM

To: Committee on Academic Affairs

From: Samuel L. Stanley, Jr., M.D. President

Subject: Change of Name - 1407 S. Harrison Road (Nisbet Building)

RECOMMENDATION
The Trustee Committee on Academic Affairs recommends that the Board of Trustees approves changing the name of the Nisbet Building to 1407 S. Harrison.

RESOLUTION
BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University hereby approves changing the name of the Nisbet Building to 1407 S. Harrison.

BACKGROUND
Currently, the university building located at 1407 S. Harrison Road is named after Stephen S. Nisbet, a former education administrator and former member of Michigan State University’s Board of Trustees. The building was named for Mr. Nisbet in February 1974 as a testament to his dedication to the betterment of the State of Michigan. However, it has recently come to light that Mr. Nisbet was involved in activity that conflicts with the values of Michigan State University.

According to the Board of Trustee meeting minutes included as Attachment A, the university building located at 1407 S. Harrison Road was named for Stephen S. Nisbet on February 15, 1974, soon after it was constructed (see pages 22-23). The building is currently mixed-use and houses the Human Resources department and portions of the College of Social Science. It was named for Mr. Nisbet in recognition of his “deep commitments to education, business, government and the general welfare of the people of Michigan.” Throughout his life he was a school principal, a superintendent, president of the Michigan Education Association, a member of the State Board of Education, a member of Michigan State University’s Board of Trustees, a member of Alma College’s Board of Trustees, and an executive with Gerber Products Company.

Stephen Nisbet was also a member of the Ku Klux Klan. According to the book “Everyday Klansfolk” by Craig Fox, Stephen Nisbet was a member of the Newago County chapter of the Klan in the 1920s (see pages 90, 140-141, 154 and 156 included as Attachment B). A copy of his membership card on file at the Central Michigan University Clarke Historical Library is included as Attachment C.

University Policy 02-06-03 (Building and Facilities – Naming), states that when a building is named for an individual, “that individual should be a person whose life, work or activities exemplify values for which Michigan State University stands.” While Mr. Nisbet’s dedication and contributions to the State of Michigan are significant, his involvement with the KKK cannot be ignored, and these activities directly conflict with the values and mission of Michigan State University.

In light of the foregoing, I recommend that the Nisbet Building be renamed 1407 S. Harrison, based on its location, with the possibility of an alternative honorary name being brought forth in the future. This recommendation has been reviewed and endorsed by the University Naming Committee.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY THAT:

1. The Term Loan Agreement between the University and Ann Arbor Trust Company, National Bank of Detroit and The Detroit Bank and Trust Company in the form submitted to this meeting and attached hereto as Exhibit A be and it hereby is approved. Said Term Loan Agreement shall be executed for and on behalf of the Board by the Vice President for Business and Finance of the University, attested by its Secretary and shall have the Corporate Seal of the University impressed thereon.

2. The Vice President for Business and Finance be and he hereby is further authorized and directed to execute and deliver the promissory note or notes of the University contemplated by said Term Loan Agreement, as well as all other documents and instruments which in his opinion are necessary to effectuate the transactions contemplated by the Term Loan Agreement, and said promissory note or notes shall be attested by the Secretary of the Board and shall have the Corporate Seal of the University impressed thereon.

3. The official statement substantially in the form presented to this meeting and attached hereto as Exhibit B be and it hereby is approved.

4. The Vice President for Business and Finance is further authorized, empowered and directed, for and in the name of the University and as its corporate act and deed, to make, consent to and agree to any changes in the terms and conditions of said Term Loan Agreement which he deems necessary, expedient and proper, prior to or at the time of execution of said Term Loan Agreement, but no such amendments or changes shall change the provisions therein for the amount to be borrowed, the maximum rate of interest to be paid thereon, or the security pledged.

The Trustees were informed of the serious illness of Mr. Earl Cress of the Ann Arbor Trust Company and they expressed their appreciation for his services to the University which have extended over many years and a wish for complete recovery.

At the April 20, 1973 meeting, the Trustees authorized the administration to plan the construction of a new facility for the Department of Public Safety and to recommend the employment of an architect for this project. At that meeting it was indicated that the facility might be combined with a new parking facility for the South Campus area. Because of current concerns relating to the energy crisis and the unpredictability of future parking ramp needs, it is recommended that a separate facility be constructed at this time for the Department of Public Safety.

It is estimated that this project can be completed for approximately $1,200,000 and that an internal loan can be executed, using the current parking revenue as a source of payment at a 6% interest rate.
4. Public Safety Facility, continued

It is the recommendation of the administration that Manson-Jackson & Kane, Inc. of Lansing be employed as the architect for this project.

RESOLVED that the administration be authorized to proceed with this project and engage the architect as recommended, with bids and financing details to be submitted to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Huff, seconded by Trustee Stevens. On the question of location raised by the Trustees, Executive Vice President Breslin stated that the building is to be located between Red Cedar and Stadium Roads and immediately south of the Audiology and Speech Sciences Building.

5. Executive Vice President Breslin recommends the employment of KMB Health Systems to assist in writing the program statement and grant application for the University teaching hospital. KMB Health Systems have been employed previously by the Board of Trustees for assistance in preparing the grant application for the Clinical Sciences Building. The time for filing the grant application on the teaching hospital is April 1. It is recommended that the Board approve an appropriation of approximately $48,500 plus expenses not to exceed $5,000 for this project.

RESOLVED that an appropriation of $53,500 ($48,500 estimated professional services, $5,000 travel, telephone, copying and report preparation) be approved for the preparation of the teaching hospital grant application.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Huff, seconded by Trustee Stevens.

6. Progress Reports and Discussion Items

A. President Wharton's direction, the Office of Research Development is conducting a University-wide survey of the capabilities and interests of the University related to the energy crisis. A preliminary report on this project was distributed to the Trustees.

B. President Wharton reported that the administration would like to offer office space and secretarial assistance to former president of the University, John A. Hannah.

Motion was made by Trustee Huff, seconded by Trustee Thompson, to provide President Emeritus Hannah with secretarial assistance and office space in the new office building. Unanimously carried.

C. Trustee Merriman raised the question of whether the University should honor Vice President Gerald R. Ford in some special way. Among the suggestions offered was one by Trustees Martin and Thompson, who comprise the committee for selecting nominees for the Trustees' Distinguished Citizen Awards, that Vice President Ford be one of the recipients of this award during 1974 Michigan Week.

Motion was made by Trustee Stevens, seconded by Trustee Merriman, to approve this suggestion. Unanimously carried.

D. Executive Vice President Breslin reported that the University has for some time been interested in acquiring the Bergner Farm adjacent to the Kellogg Biological Station. This 78 acres recently became available and Dr. Russell Mawby, President of the Kellogg Foundation, arranged for a gift of $82,000 for the purchase of the farm by the University. Responding to a request by Dr. Mawby, representatives of the University have met with representatives of the Gull Lake Schools to discuss the possibility of a future transfer of an undertermined portion of the Bergner Farm to the Gull Lake Schools for expansion.

E. Trustee Merriman commented on presentations which were made on behalf of several groups at a meeting of the Governor's Commission on Higher Education on January 23. The Commission will try to arrive at a final position at their meeting February 21 and 22, and a meeting of representatives of the Michigan Association of Governing Boards has been scheduled for February 28 to discuss the Commission actions.

February 15, 1974

RESOLUTION ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY
AT EAST LANSING ON FEBRUARY 15, 1974 NAMING THE UNIVERSITY OFFICE BUILDING ON HARRISON ROAD THE STEPHEN S. NISBET OFFICE BUILDING

On December 31, 1970 which marked the completion of his term of office as a member of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University, Stephen S. Nisbet was honored by this board for his meaningful contributions to the education, politics and business of Michigan. Special note was taken at that time of Mr. Nisbet's long interest in the education of Michigan's young people represented in his service as principal of Fremont High School from 1920-23; superintendent of public schools in Fremont from 1923-45; an officer in various teacher organizations and president of the Michigan Education Association in 1942; a member of the State Board of Education from 1943-1961; and as a member of this board from 1962-1970 and a member of the Board of Trustees of Alma College in Alma, Michigan.

Probably Trustee Nisbet's most distinguished contribution to Michigan government was his election in 1961 as chairman of the Michigan Constitutional Convention. His patience and skill in working with people holding differing viewpoints played an important part in the final product of the Convention -- the state's present constitution. In 1960, he had also been a delegate to the Republican National Convention.

From 1945 to 1962, Mr. Nisbet served in various management and leadership positions with the Gerber Products Company of Fremont, Michigan. Starting as Director of Public Relations, he later became Vice President and in 1962 retired as a director of the baby products company.

In 1972, Trustee Nisbet was honored by Michigan State University for his many accomplishments and contributions to his state by becoming one of the first recipients of the Distinguished Citizen Award given by the University.

Therefore, in recognition of the deep commitments to education, business, government and the general welfare of the people of Michigan reflected in Mr. Nisbet's many activities, the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University names the new office building, currently known as the Michigan State University Office Building, the Stephen S. Nisbet Office Building. In light of Mr. Nisbet's many contributions to Michigan, it is indeed appropriate that this new facility will house the offices of various educational and service organizations serving the state and nation.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED UNANIMOUSLY BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY
AT EAST LANSING ON FEBRUARY 15, 1974 NAMING THE NEW ICE ARENA THE CLARENCE L. MUNN ICE ARENA

In the fall of 1971, Michigan State University lost the services of a man who played a dynamic role in the shaping of the University's vast athletic programs when Clarence L. "Biggie" Munn, Director of Athletics in 1954, "Biggie" had been a highly successful football coach for the Spartans for seven years in which his teams posted a remarkable record of 54 games won, nine lost and two tied. Major accomplishments for MSU football during "Biggie's" tenure as coach were the winning of the mythical National Championship in 1952, sharing the Big Ten title and then winning in the Rose Bowl game of 1953 and the long winning streak of 28 games from the fourth game of the 1950 season to the fourth game of the 1953 schedule.

As Director of Athletics, "Biggie" was responsible for increasing the physical plant for athletic activities at the University and enlarging the stadium seating capacity from 26,000 to 76,000. He helped supervise the building of intramural facilities for men and those for women. In addition, under "Biggie's" directorship, forty tennis courts were added and two golf courses were developed.

"Biggie" has been the recipient of many national, regional and local honors awarded for his dedication and hard work both as a coach and as a director of a major athletic program. In addition to his deep love for sports, he has always taken time to assist various church, community and service organizations. He helped organize the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and served as its president, a member of the Board of Directors and an honorary trustee.

2. It is recommended that the new ice arena now under construction be named in honor of former Director of Athletics Clarence L. "Biggie" Munn, the building to be known as the Clarence L. Munn Ice Arena.

RESOLVED that the new ice arena be named the Clarence L. Munn Ice Arena.

Unanimously approved on motion by Trustee Thompson, seconded by Trustee Carrigan. The resolution follows.

Merriman and Thompson voting "No."

Motion was made by Trustee Martin, seconded by Trustee Stevens, to table the motion for a couple months in order to give the people concerned with the environmental impact and others a chance to be heard. Trustees Martin, Stevens, Stack and Huff voted "Yes"; Trustees Carrigan, Merriman, Radcliffe, and Thompson voted "No." Motion failed.

Trustee Carrigan stated her negative vote on the motion to table was based on the time period of "a couple months" mentioned by Trustee Martin, which she felt was not long enough to do studies of nesting habits of the birds in the area which should be an important part of an environmental impact statement. She also mentioned a need for data as to traffic projections that take into account the current energy crisis and documentation of the safety hazard problems. Provost Cantlon stated that a 50-year accumulation of data is available on bird nesting statistics so that an estimate rather than an actual study could be made.

Trustee Stevens, seconded by Trustee Martin, to table the proposal until a time to allow an opportunity for input and reactions to the new plan to be completed, not later than July but sooner if possible. Motion carried by a vote of 6 to 2, Trustees Merriman and Thompson voting "No."

At its November 19 meeting the University Student Affairs Committee approved the following amendment to the Tax Collection Criteria Policy:

Change 2.d.(1) to read:

If over a period of two calendar years an average of less than 20% of the students subject to the assessment voluntarily pay the fee, the fee collection may be discontinued by the University. However this does not revoke the power of the organization to assess its members.

Vice President Nonnamaker concurs in this recommendation and submits it to the Trustees for their approval.

RESOLVED that the Tax Collection Criteria Policy be amended as recommended.

Trustee Stevens' motion, seconded by Trustee Radcliffe to approve the resolution was approved by a vote of 6 to 2, Trustees Merriman and Thompson voting "No."
Executive Vice President Breslin recommends approval of the new A-P Grievance Procedure. The Grievance Procedure has been reviewed by the Office of Labor Relations and the Executive Board of the Administrative-Professional Association. It is their recommendation that the Trustees approve the revised A-P Grievance Procedure.

A-P GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

The following grievance procedure is established for use by Administrative-Professional employees and the MSU A-P Association who feel they have a grievance or complaint alleging a violation, misinterpretation or a misapplication of existing written University policies which concern wages, hours or working conditions.

I. Definitions and General Conditions

1. This grievance procedure is established for use by full or part-time employees of Michigan State University who are classified as Administrative-Professional and the MSU-APA in its capacity as a representative of a grievant.

2. In order for a grievance to be considered timely and thus appropriate for this grievance procedure, the alleged grievance must be reduced to writing and presented to the immediate supervisor within 15 working days from the date that the facts occurred, or should reasonably have been known to occur, which gave rise to the alleged grievance.

3. All time periods may be reasonably extended by mutual consent of the parties in writing.

4. a. If, at any step of this procedure, the University's representative fails to answer the grievance within the prescribed time period and no extension of time has been mutually agreed upon in writing, the grievance may then be appealed to the next higher step, within the prescribed time period for appeal.

b. If at any step the grievant does not appeal the answer in writing within the prescribed time period, the grievance shall be considered settled on the basis of the last answer and not be subject to future review.

5. Working day defined. A working day is any day, Monday through Friday, during normal business hours, on which the University is open for official business.

6. Discipline and/or Discharge

a. An Administrative-Professional employee who has completed one year of regular full-time (or part-time) continuous employment as an Administrative-Professional employee, shall not be discharged, demoted nor suspended except for reasonable and just cause.

b. In the event that a discharge or suspension of an A-P occurs, the grievant may by-pass Step II of this grievance procedure and immediately proceed to Step III. If such an option is exercised, the grievant must notify the administrative head in writing of this action.

c. Restitution/Reinstatement: Should a decision be rendered at any step of the grievance procedure that the employee was unjustly discharged, demoted, or suspended without reasonable and just cause, the University agrees to reinstate the employee to the employee's former position effective the date of the discharge, demotion, or suspension. Computation of any back wages or benefits must include offset for unemployment insurance, Workmen's Compensation and wages earned with other employers during the computation time.

7. Nothing contained in this grievance procedure shall be construed as prohibiting the grievant and the University from settling a grievance at any level of this procedure.

8. The grievant shall be entitled to representation of his choice. The grievant may request at any or all steps of this grievance procedure, the assistance of a representative of the MSU Administrative-Professional Association. Any expense incurred for counsel, assistance or representation is the responsibility of the grievant.

II. Grievance Procedure

Step I

If an A-P has a grievance it should first be discussed with the A-P's immediate supervisor in an effort to resolve the problem. In the event that the problem is not resolved through oral discussion, the A-P may formalize the grievance by reducing the grievance to writing together with the relief requested on the appropriate A-P grievance form. This written grievance must then be presented to the grievant's immediate supervisor within fifteen (15) working days from the date the facts occurred, or should reasonably have been known.

to occur, which gave rise to the alleged grievance. The grievant's immediate supervisor has five (5) working days to answer the grievance in writing.

Step II

If the grievant is not satisfied with the immediate supervisor's written answer, the grievant may within five (5) working days from receipt of such answer appeal the grievance to the administrative head of the unit or his designated representative indicating on the form the reasons why the answer of the immediate supervisor was not satisfactory.

The administrative head of the unit or his designated representative has five (5) working days from the receipt of the appeal to answer the grievance in writing.

Step III

If the grievant is not satisfied with the administrative head's written answer, the grievant may, within five (5) working days from the receipt of such answer, appeal the grievance to the Office of Labor Relations. The Director of Labor Relations or his designated representative will arrange, within five (5) working days from the receipt of the appeal, a meeting with the grievant, the immediate supervisor, and the administrative head to review the facts and the actions taken in an effort to determine the validity of the grievance. Within five (5) working days following the meeting, the Director of Labor Relations or his designated representative will submit a written decision to all the parties.

Step IV Arbitration

a. If the grievant is not satisfied with the decision of the Director of Labor Relations or his designated representative, the grievant shall request, in writing, within five (5) working days from the receipt of the Director of Labor Relations' decision, that the decision be appealed to arbitration.

b. From a list of three (3) arbitrators supplied by the University, one acceptable to both parties will be selected. In the event the parties cannot agree upon an arbitrator within twenty (20) working days, a list of five (5) arbitrators shall be requested from the American Arbitration Association. The parties will meet to alternately strike a name until one remains. (The parties will alternate on every other arbitration case as to who shall strike first. The grievant shall strike first in the first case which is appealed to arbitration under this procedure.)

c. The rules of the American Arbitration Association shall apply to the arbitration hearing. The Arbitrator's written decision shall be rendered and mailed to the parties concerned within thirty (30) days of the completion of the hearing. The decision of the arbitrator will be final and binding on all parties, and judgment therein may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

d. The fees and authorized expenses of the arbitrator shall be shared equally by the University and the grievant. If the grievant is represented at Step IV by the Michigan State University Administrative-Professional Association, the Association shall assume the grievant's share of the fees and authorized expenses of the arbitrator. If the grievant chooses not to be represented by the Administrative-Professional Association in arbitration, or, if the Administrative-Professional Association chooses not to represent the grievant in arbitration the grievant shall solely assume the grievant's share of the fees and authorized expenses of the arbitrator. In the event that the arbitrator's decision reinstates a discharged or suspended employee, or restores to former status a demoted employee, all expenses of the arbitrator will be borne by the University. Verbatim transcripts of the proceedings shall be secured only with the prior mutual consent of the parties, in which case all expenses will be equally borne.

e. The arbitrator shall have no authority to add to, or subtract from, alter, change or modify any of the written policies of Michigan State University. The decision of the arbitrator shall be limited to only the question or questions submitted to the arbitrator.
5. A-P Grievance Procedure, continued

f. The arbitrator shall not substitute his judgment for that of the employer where the employer's judgment and actions are based upon reasonable cause and do not violate written University policies. The arbitrator shall not render any decision which would require or permit an action in violation of public statutes. The arbitrator may make no award which provides the employee compensation greater than would have resulted had there been no violation.

g. The arbitrator shall have no authority to establish wage and salary scales, rates on new or changed jobs or to change any wage or salary rate.

h. Excluded from arbitration are disputes and unresolved grievances concerning merit increase decisions.

i. The arbitrator shall have no authority to rule on a grievance dealing with whether a particular work assignment has been given to a person or persons in appropriate employee groups, for example, between C-Ts and A-Ps.

j. In the event a grievance is appealed to arbitration and said arbitration finds that he has no authority to rule on such case, the matter shall be referred back to the parties without decision or recommendation on the merits of the case.

k. The employer in no event shall be required to pay back wages for more than three (3) working days prior to the date a written grievance is filed. In the case of a pay shortage of which the employee could not have been aware before receiving their pay, any adjustment shall be retroactive to the beginning of the pay period covered by such pay, if the employee files their grievance within three (3) working days after receipt of such pay.

RESOLVED that the A-P Grievance Procedure is approved.

Trustee Thompson's motion, seconded by Trustee Radcliffe, to approve the above resolution carried by a vote of 7 to 0. Trustee Stevens did not vote.

6. In order for the Board of Trustees Awards to have the same relative meaning as they did in 1957 when they were established, Provost Cantlon recommends that the first place awards be increased from $200 to $300 and the second place awards be increased from $100 to $150, effective winter quarter 1974.

RESOLVED that the Board of Trustees Awards to outstanding students be increased to $300 for first place and $150 for second place, effective winter quarter 1974.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Huff, seconded by Trustee Thompson.

7. Commonwealth Associates, Inc. has been engaged by the State of Michigan and the University as consulting engineers for the addition to the University's Power Plant. As previously reported to the Board of Trustees, in order to comply with current Environmental Protection Agency standards, it is necessary for the University to replace the existing precipitators for boilers 1 and 2 at Power Plant 65.

A request was made for this project to the State of Michigan and it will be funded as part of the current capital appropriation for the Power Plant. It should also be noted that Commonwealth Associates, Inc. performed the study which resulted as the program statement in receiving this additional appropriation.

It is recommended that the University engage Commonwealth Associates, Inc. as consulting engineers for this project at a lump sum fee of $226,000. It is estimated that this portion of the project will cost approximately $3,200,000 to be funded from the capital appropriation.

RESOLVED that the above contract be awarded as recommended.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Thompson, seconded by Trustee Carrigan.
8. The Department of Astronomy requests that its name be changed to Department of Astronomy and Astrophysics to more accurately reflect the makeup of their bachelor's degree content and to convey their joint support of certain doctoral candidates in the Department of Physics. This request has the approval of the Department's faculty and Dean Byerrum advises that it is approved both by the Department of Physics and his office.

No subsequent commitment to new programs is made or implied by this change. The request has been reviewed by the provost and comes to the Board with the administration's recommendation that it be approved.

RESOLVED: The name of the Department of Astronomy be changed to the Department of Astronomy and Astrophysics, effective March 1, 1974.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Huff, seconded by Trustee Carrigan.

9. Although a Museum has been recognized through a separate budget and has had a director appointed by formal Board action since 1940, there is no formal Board action establishing the Museum and its permanent collections. This deficiency was called to the University's attention by the American Association of Museums. The administration recommends that the Board take this formal recognition action.

RESOLVED: The Museum of Michigan State University and its permanent collections are hereby formally established.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Carrigan, seconded by Trustee Huff.

10. Several units of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service have been housed in Room 210 Natural Resources since the building was opened in 1966. These units will soon be occupying new space in the MSU Office Building being constructed on South Harrison Road.

It would be desirable to convert Room 210 into six private offices in order that some Department of Forestry staff can vacate space elsewhere in the building to make room for the relatively new Department of Parks and Recreation Resources. If approved by the Board of Trustees, $12,400 will be funded from Account No. 11-5173, Special Alterations and Improvements, for creation of these offices.

RESOLVED that the alterations to Room 210 Natural Resources Building are approved.

Unanimously approved. Motion by Trustee Martin, seconded by Trustee Radcliffe.

Everyday Klansfolk

White Protestant Life and the KKK in 1920s Michigan and services. Even within this broad category, a great diversity is apparent, from providers of general conveniences (grocers, hardware stores, confectioners, undertakers, auto repair shops, fuel supply, drugstores, florists, clothing stores, jewelers, news agents) to leisure and entertainment (resorts, billiard halls, movie theaters, restaurants) to the owners of a private bus line, and local dealerships for the Ford Motor Company.

Positions of power and influence are apparent among Newaygo Klansmen, too, in local government administrations, in the clergy, in the post office, and in the local press. Highly trained professionals seemed unafraid and unashamed of affiliating with the Invisible Empire. Five dentists, a veterinarian, an optometrist, a chiropractor, and fully nine local physicians all took the oath. Less numerous but perhaps even more surprising are the members who listed their occupations in the creative arts: a performer, an illustrator, more than one artist, a newspaper editor, and a man “working in radio.” For an order supposedly of the entirely unenlightened, the Klan also seemed eager to forge an uncanny number of links with the world of education. The KKK sported a membership of thirteen students (both college and high school) and nine teachers, spanning all but one Newaygo County town. Also on the books were Arthur Crawford, principal of Newaygo High School, and the Fremont Board of Education’s superintendent of schools, Stephen S. Nisbet. Simply put, the Klan in this area was the exclusive preserve of neither the poorest nor necessarily the lowest occupational, educational, and social status groups, as the Mecklin thesis contends. The occupational profile of Newaygo County’s Klan, above all else, appears striking for the variety, scope, and diversity of its membership. Viewed as a cross section of the wider society at large, the Klan had a foot, and sometimes much more than that, in every camp.

FROM EXCLUSIVITY TO EXPANSION:
BRIDGING THE GAPS OF SEX, AGE, AND NATIONALITY

The national Klan organization, from the outset of its rebirth in 1915, had always been abundantly clear about its criteria for eligibility—using age, nationality, gender, religious, and racial barriers to restrict membership. Outlining these conditions in its original application for incorporation as “a patriotic, secret social, benevolent order” in Fulton County, Georgia, and later repeating them formally in its official Constitution and Laws, the Klan stated that Church of Christ, led by pro-Klan pastor Jay N. Booth, provided religious instruction to a similar number of Klansfolk.

Booth, in fact, was a newcomer, and arrived in Fremont from West Virginia in the summer of 1923, immediately prior to the KKK’s descent upon the county. The fact that he claimed to have encountered the mysterious organization in the past endowed him with the privileged status of “local expert,” a position he obviously reveled in. It seems no accident that his arrival should also coincide with the founding of a new social organization known as the “Newaygo County Ministerial Association,” a group packed with men, including Rev. Leitch, who would shortly join the Invisible Empire. Formed in Fremont to “promote mutual fellowship” among selected area church leaders, reports of the association’s early meetings demonstrate not just the obvious familiarity of the region’s soon-to-be Klannish preachers with one another, but also their mutual fascination with the hot topic of the day:

The Newaygo County Ministerial association met July 9, 1923, at the Congregational church of Newaygo and twelve pastors were present. This organization is only a month old but is showing a healthy growth . . . A very interesting and instructive program was given Monday morning . . . the devotions were led by Rev. Van Wingerden . . . A short business session followed . . . Dr. Branch extended an invitation to have the next meeting at the Baptist church in White Cloud and the invitation was accepted . . . Rev. Booth of Fremont spoke about the Ku Klux Klan. He spoke from personal observation as he has just come to us from the south.55

Also very much within Klannish reach were the county’s Sunday schools, with many of the local organizers simultaneously holding Klan membership. Lynda Stone, for instance, ran a Sunday school class at the Fremont Methodist Episcopal Church, while fellow Klanswoman Helen Darling performed the same duty at Booth’s Church of Christ. In Newaygo, Fred Myers—a pre-charter Klansman and deacon of the Baptist church—was also superintendent of its Sunday school, while Bitely Klanswoman Mary Zettlemoyer had given instructional speeches before a local gathering of the American Sunday Schools Union in June 1925.56 The Newaygo County Sunday Schools Association, which sent representatives to participate in statewide gatherings and events, was also replete with Klan names, including, among others, Stephen S. Nisbet as head of the young people’s division.57

Klansman Nisbet, aside from having “given much of his spare time to Sunday school and general religious activities,” was also a key figure in the general education of much of Newaygo County’s youth, being “especially active among the young people of the city (of Fremont).” Having served for three years as the principal of Fremont’s high school, a twenty-eight-year-old Nisbet was elevated in June 1923 to the position of superintendent of Fremont Public Schools. A World War I naval veteran and graduate of what the Times-Indicator referred to as “the Government radio school at Harvard University,” Nisbet was nothing if not well connected, in later years becoming a Newaygo County delegate to the Republican National Convention, as well as serving as president of Gerber Baby Foods. On the educational front, he would go on to have a distinguished career serving on the Michigan State Board of Education (1943–61), as well as on the board of trustees of both Michigan State University (1964–70) and Alma College (1944–1986). Both colleges dedicated faculty buildings, which still remain, in his honor.58

The Fremont school board that appointed Nisbet was itself well populated with Klansfolk, with four elected to positions in 1924. Just as in the political world, each of the four successful candidates attained their respective board positions only after overcoming strong competition from other individuals also involved with the local Klan. In the same year, six teachers employed in Fremont public schools would also feature on Klan membership rolls. They would be joined in the Klavern by at least four of the town’s senior class of students for 1924, including Bernadette Markley, a member of the Klannish Markley Café family, who had also proved popular enough to have been voted “most beautiful girl in school” that year. Indeed, links forged while at school seem to have been an important factor among Fremont’s young Klansfolk. The graduating senior class of the year before, 1923, contained at least six who signed up, the class of 1922 another four, and the class of 1921 five.59

In the town of Newaygo, too, local schools were certainly sites of Klan concentration, and the principal of the Newaygo high school, Arthur Crawford, was joined in donning the robe by a further eight of his teachers, including both busy recruiter Floyd Crandall and his fiancée Angie Wheeler. In addition, five young members of the Klan would also list their occupation at joining the order as “student at Newaygo High school.” At least one Klansman was a member of the school’s PTA, while two of Newaygo’s five-member school board also belonged. All of this looks especially significant when taken together with the Klan’s earlier surveillance work on Newaygo, which had determined that there were only a total of fourteen schoolteachers on the city payroll in late 1923.60

The Klan’s inside information could claim a level of precision and authenticity simply because it came directly from the most reliable and 12,” all looking for homes, preferably in the same neighborhood. Various small charitable causes overlapped with Newaygo’s KKK, and at the beginning of 1925, at least six Klansmen donated money to help a family struck by serious illness in the village of Biteley. In 1928, White Cloud Klansman Riley Allers would take this notion further, starting up a string of regional organizations known as the Helping Hand societies, intended “to help our neighbors in time of bereavement.” Following suit, Krusader Elmer McMullen and Klansman Ted Branch became chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Newaygo County “Goodfellows,” a charitable organization that made it its business, seemingly without prejudice, “to see that no child in Muskegon, Newaygo and Oceana counties is forgotten on Christmas.”

When individuals involved with the county Klan talked of community “improvement,” much of their talk centered around the issue of public morality. Stephen S. Nisbet, for example, had led Newaygo County’s Salvation Army appeal in summer 1923, heading a committee that featured at least four other prominent (very soon-to-be) Klansfolk. Concentrating its work in prisons, children’s homes, and poorhouses, the appeal pledged to go on a “quest for souls . . . those who seem down and out,” adopting the motto “go for souls, and go for the worst.” Proud of its ability to affect moral turnaround, the group claimed to have “taken drunkards and made respected fathers and businessmen . . . made worthy mothers from women who walked the streets . . . reformed criminals . . . [and] turned many a wavering young man and girl to the path of integrity.”

Without doubt the most pressing moral issue of the day, though, was prohibition—a specter looming ever-present in the philosophical background of the whole era. In Newaygo County, public support for prohibition was widespread, to the extent that the Methodist Episcopal Church had held a “Prohibition Jubilee and Ratification celebration” in Fremont when the law was passed. The Anti-Saloon League (whose common ground and significant overlaps with the KKK on the liquor issue have been noted elsewhere) also held regular meetings in the county, and welcomed a succession of eminent speakers supporting prohibition. The organization’s local campaign was managed by Mable Barnum, who would soon join the WKKK (as well as being an active member of the county’s Republican Committee and becoming in 1924 the first woman in Fremont to serve on an election board). Other prominent local Klansfolk who added their voices to this particular discussion included state senator Orville E. Atwood, through “temperance” addresses, and Don VanderWerf, editorializing upon “the prohibition situation” in his Fremont Times-Indicator. On violators of the dry laws, VanderWerf’s judgment was typically moralistic and clear: “If local theater are of a much higher class than those presented in the average town." Still other local women’s organizations made municipal pride their main focus. The Fremont Women’s Club (with Mabel Barnum as president, and at the very least six other Klanswomen as members) dedicated an entire meeting to the subject of “civic improvement,” collecting “many fine suggestions” for the practical beautification of Fremont’s streets, public areas, and leisure facilities.

As well as these very active female-led improvement drives, a large part of the effort to “boost” the county’s fortunes typically came from among its business elite, and one organization in particular—the chamber of commerce—embodied this spirit. Having served in the early 1920s as the head of the Fremont Chamber, Morrie Odell characterized it as “an organization of the leading business men and citizens who have the welfare and interest of their community at heart and are trying by their united efforts to better the conditions of that community.” Overlaps between Fremont Klansmen and the Fremont Chamber of Commerce were undeniable. Joining Odell in serving terms as either president, secretary, or treasurer of the chamber during an era in which they would all also join the Klan were real estate man Hermon C. Buck, Fremont mayor Herman Stobbelaar, ex-mayors Edwin D. L. Evans and Erwin Tinney, schools superintendent Stephen S. Nisbet, leading banker Emeil Kempf, and physician Louis Webber, among others. Holding the office of president at the Klan’s 1924 peak, Dr. Webber was considered “one of the live wires of Fremont,” juggling these duties not just with his KKK membership, but also with his role as the county’s Republican Party chairman. In all, at least thirty-five Fremont Klansmen, and very likely more besides, were known to have been members of the city’s chamber of commerce. This list included some of the Invisible Empire’s most recognizable and dynamic local faces, such as prolific recruiters Thomas Mullins and D. W. Markley, Klannish minister Jay N. Booth, budding truck magnate Dallas Darling, newspaper editor Don VanderWerp, and baby-food entrepreneur Dan F. Gerber. Also among them was Old State Bank president J. Andrew Gerber (an older relative of Dan’s), who was credited with doing “more than any other man” to promote horticulture in Fremont, even going to the length of inviting local farmers to display their best produce in the lobby of his bank. “Always alert to the advantages of his home town,” he was apparently “a pioneer in the banker-farmer movement which has revolutionized country banking throughout the United States.”

Over in White Cloud, the chamber of commerce had been less of an influential force among Klansmen, having only been formally organized in the town in February 1926. Despite its lack of activity at the Klan’s numerical
