4. President’s Report

President Stanley provided the following report to the Board:

Thank you to all the speakers. The COVID-19 pandemic and its impact remains at the forefront of our thoughts. One of the terrible consequences of this outbreak is its disproportionate impact on people of color across the United States. In Michigan, 14 percent of the population is black, but Blacks make up 41 percent of the deaths in the state. The toll has been extraordinary, and I have heard firsthand from our students, particularly from the Detroit Metropolitan area, on the devastating impact on families and communities from this crisis. I want to say MSU is committed to working both in the short term and long term to help deal with this issue. MSU's work in Flint has shown we can make a difference in improving public health and serving under resourced areas. And now, we need to do more. Both College of Nursing Dean Randolph Rasch and Associate Dean for Public Health Integration Dr. Deborah Furr-Holden, who is director of the Flint Center for Health Equity Solutions, are serving on Governor Whitmer's coronavirus taskforce on racial disparities. And I know they will be thinking of how MSU can contribute solutions on how to reduce these disparities.

On a smaller and local scale, working with the county health department and neighborhood groups, MSU Health Care is offering coronavirus testing to the Richwood neighborhood on the south side of Lansing, which is identified as a vulnerable area. On a longer timeframe, we are actively pursuing collaborations which would allow Michigan State University to have a larger impact on the health of all the underserved people of Michigan.

In the meantime, we continue to operate under Michigan's “Stay at Home, Stay Safe” executive order through May 28, 2020. During this time, only MSU employees designated as “necessary” are working on campus, we know this is a challenging time for all of us. Among the most pressing questions in front of us is when and how Michigan State University will resume in-person instruction and on-site operations. We will be teaching in the fall semester and hope to have our full comprehensive research taking place on campus with appropriate protection measures. What is uncertain at this point, is whether we will have in-person classes with students on campus, or if we will be using exclusively online education. As we consider these scenarios, we want to emphasize that safety will continue to be Michigan State’s guidelines. At the same time, we know that zero risk is not achievable in any scenario.

We want to continue the forward momentum of this university in meeting our mission and ensuring the success of our students. It is important to emphasize that our decision will depend on the status of the epidemic in our state in late summer, and the public health infrastructure available to us in testing and contact tracing. I established a COVID-19 Reopening Campus Task Force, chaired by MSU Executive Vice President for Health Sciences Norman Beauchamp and University Physician David Weismantel, to develop a framework and parameters for this key effort. We hope to have a clear enough picture of the public health situation and our capacity to safely host our students, faculty, and staff, to be able to announce a decision in late June or early July.

COVID-19 has also created financial impacts that are being felt by colleges and universities across the nation. Here at Michigan State, the implications are significant. We have enacted a number of actions to address a shortfall of $50-$60 million for the current fiscal year and as much as $150 to $300 million for the next. In an email message to MSU employees this week, I communicated a variety of actions that are under consideration and a number of which are being implemented. So far, we are tightening the hiring chill and limiting the filling of vacancies, looking at all capital projects to determine which can be paused, briefly delayed or indefinitely postponed, reducing pay for executive management three to 10 percent depending on salary level, and implementing a minimum three percent budget reduction to academic and administrative units.

In addition, I told our employees, we are considering proposing campus-wide salary reductions in a scaled manner for all other employees and proposing reducing MSU’s above-the-match retirement plan contributions. These actions, if applied across the entire university, represent a shared sacrifice that would address our estimated budget shortfall, which is estimated to be 11 percent of our general fund expenditures. We are continuing to work with our unions, deans and other campus leaders and I’ve promised to keep the campus community informed about our progress. We also recognize the implications of the financial crisis for students and families and one of the significant moves we are making to help keep MSU affordable is freezing tuition for the coming year. This will mark the third consecutive year tuition is frozen, which is under consideration today by the Board.

Along the same lines, the Board today also will consider a recommendation for not increasing housing or dining rates for next year as well. Finally, for all the uncertainties that prospective and continuing students may face, I encourage you to stick with MSU. I want to emphasize our commitment to doing right by you and continuing to maintain our high academic standards. Because of this, and our remarkable history and mission, remains our belief that an MSU degree and being a Spartan provides a tremendous value to our graduates.

I recently announced Teresa Kaye Woodruff as my selection for MSU’s new provost and executive vice president for academic affairs, subject to the Board’s approval today. She currently is dean of the Graduate School at Northwestern University and is the Thomas J. Watkins Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology. The Provost has to be the academic leader and set the standard for the university. She has extraordinary academic credentials. She is a Guggenheim award winner, and a member of the National Academy of Inventors. She is also an elected fellow at the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and as well as a fellow at the American Institute for Medical Biological Behavior. In 2018 she was elected to the highly prestigious National Academy of Medicine. In April of this year, she was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. These awards honor her extraordinary research in oncological fertility, a field she helped pioneer, and also efforts toward achieving sexual equality in research. She was a leader in the effort to convince the National Institutes of Health and researchers around the world to consider sex as a biological variable in basic science and preclinical research, helping to ensure development of better treatments for women as well as men.

Her commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion is also strong. At Northwestern she developed a highly successful mentoring program to reach out to economically disadvantaged high school students, predominantly students of color in the Chicago area, and bring them to the Northwestern University campus for science academies to prepare them for college and careers in STEM. This program resulted in her receiving the 2020 Presidential award for Excellence in Science, Mathematics and Engineering mentoring at the White House.

The role of the dean of the graduate schools at one of America’s most distinguished institutions has given her the experience of working with multiple colleges, and with setting high standards for the academic mission. In our conversations, she has emphasized how much she has learned to appreciate the critical role of arts and humanities in the university’s mission, and the need for experts across campus. She communicated a great vision for an ambitious future, and shared the core importance of diversity, equity, and inclusion, and a safe, welcoming campus at Michigan State. In summary, she is a dynamic, accomplished leader, and I am pleased that Teresa Woodruff will join us on August 1, 2020. I know she is excited about visiting the campus in person, but in the meantime, she will be communicating with Interim Provost Sullivan and me on a regular basis to prepare herself for her arrival at MSU.

I want to remind you that a search for a Vice President and Chief Diversity Officer (CDO), which was paused at MSU with the shift to online learning, is back on. The search committee anticipates being able to identify finalists and participate in the campus engagement process early in the fall semester. This position is critical for Michigan State University, and our need for fundamental DEI across the institution. The CDO, who will report directly to me, the President, will have the opportunity to work with our DEI strategic planning committee, and implement a comprehensive plan with DEI that harnesses the different work going on in different units across the university on issues like eliminating gaps in student success, and recruitment of underrepresented students, faculty, and staff, and creating a more welcoming campus. This work is key to moving us ahead at Michigan State, and I remain committed to working with all of you to make a difference. In this vein, we are moving forward with our plan to implement mandatory DEI training for the upcoming year for all members of the MSU community. This represents one important part of our efforts going forward.

I want to briefly summarize some awards for our university and staff. For the fifth consecutive year, MSU earned “gold status” as a veteran-friendly school by the Michigan Veteran Affairs Agency. MSU is home to nearly 300 veteran students served by our Student Veterans Resource Center. MSU Police Lt. Andrea Munford was recognized with the 2020 Professional Impact Award for her victim-centered, trauma-informed approach to sexual assault investigation. The award from End Violence Against Women International is given to those whose work has significantly influenced their community’s response to violence against women. Another milestone we observed this season was the 50th anniversary of Earth Day on April 22, 2020. The U.S. Department of Energy recognized Michigan State for reaching its goal of reducing energy use by 20 percent this year in its 20 million... square feet of facilities. It shows how MSU continues to be environmentally and fiscally responsible while providing a safe, productive learning and working environment.

I’m pleased to report we have a new director for the Broad Art Museum, Mónica Ramírez-Montagut. She currently is director of the Newcomb Art Museum at Tulane University in New Orleans. She will join us here July 1, 2020. She is a trained architect with 20 years of arts and culture experience. I think she will bring a fresh perspective and renewed energy to the museum and arts community.

Finally, commencement ceremonies are the highlight of the academic year, and I’m sorry we are not able to provide them for our degree-earners this season. But I know a lot of us in the Spartan community are looking forward to tomorrow’s virtual commencement ceremony. We’ve invited graduates and the entire MSU community, including alumni, to enjoy the program and acknowledge those who earned undergraduate and graduate degrees. The virtual ceremony will be held on MSU’s Facebook page beginning at 10 a.m. tomorrow, May 16, 2020. It will be recorded for later viewing. The program of course does not replace a traditional in-person commencement, and we hope to have an in-person event in the future for the distinguished class of 2020.

Meanwhile, a number of MSU colleges have been recognizing their newest graduates online. And I also want to personally recognize the 91 graduates earning the Board of Trustees Award this semester for recording perfect 4.0 grade point averages. That is a remarkable achievement. And we’re extremely proud of the 360 medical, osteopathic and nursing graduates this semester for whom we worked with the State to move their graduation to April, so they could move to the front lines to the pandemic. We thank them for their service, we are proud of them as Spartans.

This concludes my report to the Board.

MEMORANDUM

To: Committee on Budget and Finance

From: Samuel L. Stanley, Jr., M.D.

Subject: 2020-21 Tuition and Fee Rates

RECOMMENDATION
The Trustee Committee on Budget and Finance recommends that the Board of Trustees adopt the MSU tuition and fee rates for 2020-21.

RESOLUTION
BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees hereby adopts the 2020-21 tuition and fee rate structure included as Attachment A, effective for Fall semester 2020.

BACKGROUND:
Attachment A reflects the recommended formal tuition and fee rate structure for the 2020-21 academic year. Proposed tuition and fee rates are the same as 2019-20 rates.

The university is currently operating under a two-year budget approved in June 2018, which included a tuition freeze for all undergraduate students. Therefore, rates for the resident entering class are unchanged since the 2017-18 academic year, and broader undergraduate tuition and fee rates are unchanged for the second consecutive year.

This action marks the first step in the 2020-21 budget development process. It is anticipated that proposed 2020-21 budget development guidelines will be brought to the Board for action at its June meeting.

To: Board of Trustees

From: Committee on Audit, Risk and Compliance

Subject: Revisions to Policy 01-01-10 (Conflict of Interest)

RECOMMENDATION

The Trustee Committee on Audit, Risk and Compliance recommends that the Board of Trustees approve the revisions to Policy 01-01-10 (Conflict of Interest) shown in Attachment A hereto.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University hereby approves the revisions to Policy 01-01-10 (Conflict of Interest) shown in Attachment A hereto.

BACKGROUND

The people of Michigan, through the State Constitution, established the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University and granted the Board general supervision of the University. As stated in the Bylaws of the Board of Trustees, “the Constitution confers upon the Board of Trustees the freedom, power, and responsibility to develop a free and distinguished university and to promote the welfare of mankind through teaching, research and public service.”

Policy 01-01-10 regarding Board of Trustees Conflict of Interest was adopted on December 6, 2006 to enhance public confidence in the Board as it carries out its public trust. The proposed revisions to the Policy are intended to enhance and clarify existing processes and procedures for identifying and addressing conflicts of interest.

The people of Michigan, through the State Constitution, established the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University and granted the Board general supervision of the University. “The Constitution confers upon the Board of Trustees the freedom, power, and responsibility to develop a free and distinguished university and to promote the welfare of mankind through teaching, research and public service.” Preamble, Michigan State University Board of Trustees Bylaws. In carrying out its public trust, the Board of Trustees has adopted this policy to enhance public confidence in the Board.

I. Fiduciary Responsibilities. Trustees will act in a manner consistent with their fiduciary responsibilities to the University. Trustees will place the University’s interests ahead of their private interests. Trustees will exercise their powers and duties in the best interests of the Board and the University and for the public good.

II. Conflict of Interest. (a) A conflict of interest exists when a Trustee’s financial interests or other opportunities for personal benefit may compromise, or reasonably appear to compromise, the Trustee’s independence of judgment in fulfilling his/her Board duties. (b) Trustees will endeavor to remain free from the influence of, or the appearance of, any conflicting interest in fulfilling their Board duties. Trustees will exercise care that no detriment to the University results from conflicts between their interests and those of the University. (c) Trustees will attempt to refrain from accepting duties, incurring obligations, or engaging in activities that would be incompatible with, or in conflict with, their Board duties.

III. Contracts. No Trustee shall have a pecuniary interest, whether direct or indirect, in any contract with the University that would induce or have the potential to induce action on the part of the Trustee to promote the contract for his/her own personal benefit.

IV. Use of Authority/Information. Trustees will not use their positions, or any privileges or information attendant to their offices, to obtain or provide others with a benefit that is inconsistent with the University’s interests.

V. Outside Influence. No Trustee will solicit or accept any gift, loan, or other thing of value, or the promise thereof in the future, from anyone outside the University which would tend to influence improperly the manner in which the Trustee performs his/her duties.

VI. Competition with University. No Trustee will knowingly compete with the University for any property, asset, or opportunity which may be of interest to the University, unless the University has been informed of the opportunity on a timely basis and has declined to act on it.

VII. Diversion of Opportunity. No Trustee will divert to another individual or entity an opportunity which may be of interest to the University, unless the University has been informed of the opportunity on a timely basis and has declined to act on it.

VIII. Disclosure of Conflicts. If a Trustee believes that he/she may have a conflict of interest or is notified of a complaint of non-compliance with this Policy, the Trustee shall promptly and fully disclose the details of the potential conflict to the Secretary to the Board of Trustees and shall refrain from participating in any way in the matter to which the conflict relates until the conflict question has been resolved. The Secretary to the Board of Trustees shall inform the Chairperson of the Board, the President, and the General Counsel of all conflict of interest questions which have been disclosed to the Secretary.

IX. Determining Conflicts. The opinion of the General Counsel shall be final with regard to determining compliance with this Policy.

X. Addressing Conflicts. If it is determined that a conflict of interest exists, the Chairperson of the Board, and the President, and the General Counsel shall work with the affected Trustee to address the conflict and explore alternative arrangements that would eliminate the conflict. If after reasonable efforts, it is not possible to reach a mutually acceptable alternative arrangement, the transaction shall be prohibited.

XI. Violations. If a Trustee fails to disclose a conflict of interest or a conflict is otherwise discovered after the fact, the matter shall be forwarded to the Office of Audit, Risk and Compliance for review and corrective action.

VIII. XII. Trustees Emeriti. This Policy shall apply to Trustees Emeriti for a period of one year following the end of their term of office.

IX- XIII. Interpretation. This Policy is to be interpreted and applied in a manner that will best serve the interest of the University.

X. XIV. State Law. This Policy is in addition to any obligations imposed on a Trustee by the State law on conflicts of interest, P.A. 1968, No. 317, MCL 15.321 et seq.

Enacted: 12/06/2006
Amended: 05/15/2020
The Board of Trustees of Michigan State University today extends its thanks and best wishes to Scott Pohl upon his retirement after 35 years with WKAR, MSU’s public radio station.

Mr. Pohl has worked as a producer, reporter, host, and anchor over his years at WKAR, covering people, issues, and events of interest and importance to the region. For many years he has hosted National Public Radio’s “Morning Edition” and call-in programs on WKAR and contributed to the “Current State” public affairs program.

Starting at Jackson College and completing his bachelor’s degree in telecommunications at Michigan State in 1979, he began at WKAR in 1984. He previously was associated with the Michigan News Network, WFMK in East Lansing, WKHM in Jackson, and WALM in Albion.

Over the years, his work brought him into contact with students, faculty, administrators, lawmakers and government officials, everyday people and newsmakers, and notable fellow broadcasters. He developed a strong connection to the arts and culture over his career, recording interviews with musicians and performers, writers and other artists, and himself is active in local theater.

He featured authors in MSU’s One Book One Community program each year and, for many years, lent his voice to announce graduates’ names in MSU commencement ceremonies.

Among his longtime reporting beats were the administration and the Board of Trustees of MSU, which he covered with fairness and professionalism.

Mid-Michigan loses a familiar and trusted voice with his retirement, but the Board is confident he will be a continuing presence in the public and creative life of the community.

Therefore, be it resolved that the Board salutes Scott Pohl on reaching this professional milestone and wishes him an active and fulfilling retirement.
