3. President’s Report

President Simon provided the following report to the Board.

A. Student and Alumni Achievements

Amber DeJohn, a Michigan State University undergraduate student, earned the nationally competitive Beinecke Scholarship, which pays for graduate studies in the arts, humanities, and social sciences. She is MSU’s third Beinecke Scholar since 2011.
MSU's College of Engineering amateur radio team recently earned the highest university scores in the premier annual ham radio contest of Michigan.

MSU's LaNisters won second place overall at the intercollegiate hackathon #GoogleGames in Chicago on April 2, 2017.

B. Faculty and Staff Achievements

The Agricultural and Applied Economics Association has bestowed the Bruce Gardner Memorial Prize for Applied Policy Analysis on a team led by Thomas Jayne, professor in the Department of Agriculture, Food and Resource Economics.

MSU Professor Melanie Cooper was named a fellow of the Royal Society of Chemistry.

MSU Professor Douglas Schemske was elected to the National Academy of Sciences.

C. University achievements

MSU was named one of this year's Fulbright Program "top producers" as announced in The Chronicle of Higher Education's February 19, 2017 online edition. This recognition demonstrates MSU's deep commitment to international exchange and to fostering stronger relationships between the United States and the more than 160 countries that take part in the Fulbright Program.

MSU has won an award for its commitment to increasing graduation rates and closing opportunity gaps for first generation, low-income and underrepresented populations through its Student Success Initiative. Presented by the National Research Center for College & University Admissions, the Eduventures 2017 Innovation Award honors higher education institutions that have demonstrated significant innovations in enrollment management, student success, and student outcomes.

MSU received the Best Overall Food Allergy Program Award for 2017. Culinary Services submitted an entry that highlighted innovative changes put in place to meet today's student's dietary restrictions.
The National Association of College and University Food Services awarded MSU a silver award for a large school in the Residential Dining—Special Event category.

MSU Licensing won the Campus Integration award for its collaboration among departments throughout campus over the past year, specifically for the State Your Loyalty program.

The MSU Department of Anthropology, Office of the President, and MSU Department of Infrastructure Planning and Facilities earned the 2017 Governor’s Awards for Historic Preservation for the Campus Archaeology Program.

D. MSU’s Our Commitment Website

President Simon took special note of the University’s new “Our Commitment” website. “Our Commitment” is a central point for current information about ongoing critical sexual assault issues, the steps MSU is taking, and the changes it is making.

It gives information about Michigan State’s work to combat sexual assault, improve patient care and safety, and protect youth on campus.

The website profiles some of MSU’s people who are on the front line of victim response. It also outlines steps the University is taking to continue to build a community characterized by care and respect for others.

MSU has been a leader in that kind of engagement for many years.

This summer, in fact, MSU celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Office of the Ombudsperson. That Office was created in 1967 to reinforce respect and responsibility among students, faculty, and staff.

MSU has demonstrated Spartan caring in other ways. The Center for Service-Learning and Civic Engagement dates back to 1962. MSU today is an acknowledged national leader in service learning, and last year the Center recorded more than 27,000 volunteer registrations.

The MSU Student Food Bank was established in 1973 to assist students who need help with food for themselves and, very often, their families. It’s the oldest in the country to be run by students for students.

MSU Safe Place, established in 1994, was the country’s first campus-based sanctuary and advocacy office for victims of relationship violence.

The MSU Police Department has operated its very highly regarded special victims unit for 20 years.

And today the University is determined to model best practices in fighting sexual harassment and assault.

President Simon encouraged everyone to visit the website, msu.edu/ourcommitment.

ETIENNE CHARLES
COLLEGE OF MUSIC

Facilitated by the Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies
Etienne Charles

Etienne Charles is an award winning trumpeter, recording artist, composer, arranger, and associate professor of Jazz Studies in the College of Music. Jazz Times called Charles "A daring improviser who delivers with heart wrenching lyricism." According to Downbeat Magazine "Charles delivers his ebullient improvisations with the elegance of a world-class ballet dancer."

In 2015, he was the only musician worldwide to be appointed a John Simon Guggenheim Fellowship in music, and joined only 10 other musicians to ever receive the award. The 2015 Guggenheim fellows were selected from a field of 3,100 applicants and represent 51 disciplines and 63 different academic institutions. In making this appointment, the Guggenheim Foundation stated: "Perhaps more than any other musician of his generation of Eastern Caribbean origin, Etienne brings a careful study of myriad rhythms from the French, Spanish, English and Dutch speaking Caribbean to his work. Crucially, as a soloist, he fully understands the New Orleans trumpet tradition (which is readily discernible in his trademark instrumental swagger) and what famed Crescent City Pianist, Jelly Roll Morton so succinctly captured in the now immortal phrase, 'The Spanish Tinge'."

Etienne Charles's work has also been supported by grants from Chamber Music America and the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation.

In 2016, Charles was a featured panelist and performer at the White House Caribbean Heritage Month Briefing, and he received the Jazz at Lincoln Center Millennial Swing award. He was also the recipient of the 2016 Reuben O'D Askew Alumni Award from Florida State University. In 2012, he was inducted into the US Congressional Record.

It is important for MSU to have individuals of international renown in all fields. Strength in the arts and humanities is a core value of every great university. Etienne Charles, through music and his scholarship, brings new insight and understanding of humankind and the African-American experience and history as well as the African Diaspora. Jazz, which has its grassroots in the African-American cultural heritage, has been continuously evolving to include new traditions including the Afro-Cuban movement of the 40’s with today’s artists embracing their ethnic heritage. Charles is foremost among these artists and scholars.
University Patent Policy

Introduction

Michigan State University's primary obligation in conducting research and scholarly activities is the pursuit of knowledge for the benefit and use of society. Consistent with its public service mission and with the laws and regulations governing federally-funded research, to which this Policy is subject, the University endeavors to foster the development of its inventions and discoveries through patenting and licensing to industry. A patent provides an incentive for a company to license an invention from the University and to invest in developing and marketing products based on the invention. Licensing proceeds provide a means for the University to recognize and reward the creative research efforts of inventors and to support additional University research.

I. Applicability and Administration of Policy

This Policy governs the ownership, protection, use, and commercialization of inventions and discoveries of University faculty, students, and staff. \(^1\)

The President shall be responsible for administering this Policy and managing University Inventions, as hereafter defined. In consultation with the President and the Provost, the VPRGS may authorize exceptions to this Policy that he/she determines to be in the best interest of the University.

II. Ownership

(a) All discoveries or inventions by a University employee which: (i) result from research which is supported by University funds or by funds controlled or administered by the University; or (ii) were created in a field of work or study directly related to that employee's scholarly or other academic endeavors at the University; or (iii) have been developed in whole or in part through the use of University resources or facilities, shall belong to the University (hereinafter "University Inventions").

(b) The University does not own discoveries or inventions created by students unless the student (i) is employed by the University (in which case the University's ownership is determined under the previous paragraph), (ii) made the discovery or invention using funds controlled or administered by the University, except grants or awards specifically designed to encourage student innovation and entrepreneurship, or (iii) made the discovery or invention in whole or in part through use of University resources or facilities other than those generally available to students. Students may elect to assign to the University their intellectual property rights in inventions or discoveries which the University does not own. If the University accepts such an assignment, the University will administer the student's discovery or invention as if it were a University Invention under this Policy.

(c) This Policy is applicable to discoveries and inventions made by faculty members and other University employees who engage in approved outside work for pay under the applicable University policy. An employee must disclose to MSU Technologies ("MSUT") inventions and/or discoveries made during the performance of outside work for pay. Ownership of discoveries and inventions made by faculty members and other University employees during approved outside work for pay will be determined by MSUT in accordance with guidelines in the companion handbook to this Policy. Faculty members or other University employees engaged in approved outside work for pay shall not assign any rights in inventions or discoveries created during the outside work for pay unless the assignment is submitted to MSUT for its review and assessment prior to the start of the outside work for pay and MSUT determines that the inventions or discoveries to be assigned are not University Inventions.

(d) The University may choose to assign its ownership of University Inventions to their inventors or others when it is deemed to be in the best interest of the University to do so. The VPRGS will provide guidelines for such circumstances in the companion handbook to this Policy.

III. Assignment; Duty to Cooperate

All individuals subject to this Policy are (a) obligated to assign and do assign to the University all right, title, and interest in and to all University Inventions of which they are inventors; and (b) have a duty to cooperate with the University when it seeks intellectual property protection for such University Inventions and in complying with legal obligations to research sponsors relating to such University Inventions. The University shall control the administration and disposition of University Inventions in its sole discretion.

IV. Obligation to Disclose University Inventions

In order to assist the University in protecting University Inventions, University employees and students shall report any University Inventions to MSUT in a timely manner. As a general rule, such reports must be made prior to disclosing such discoveries or inventions through publications, presentations, or communications with third parties (including research sponsors) in a manner which may inhibit or preclude the University from obtaining patent protection.

V. Distribution of Revenue and Equity from Technology Transfer

(a) When they occur, the economic benefits arising from the commercialization of University Inventions will be shared among the inventor(s), the inventor’s major administrative unit (MAU), and the University.

(b) The University will recover all direct cumulative expenses incurred for the patenting, protection (including litigation related to the patent), marketing, and licensing of each University Invention from its licensing proceeds before distributing the remaining net proceeds.

(i) For University Inventions with more than one inventor, all inventors must agree in writing to each inventor’s share of the total percentage of net proceeds allocable to the Inventor(s), as set forth below. Absent such an agreement, the University will divide the inventors’ share of the net proceeds equally among them.

(ii) Except as set forth in section V(c)(iii), distributions of net licensing proceeds will be made as follows:
(iii) The distribution of net licensing proceeds obtained under technology transfer agreements effective before ______________, 2017 will be made as follows:

(d) Consideration received by the University in connection with the commercialization of a University Invention may include shares of stock or other securities. The University or the Michigan State University Foundation, as the University's assignee, shall control the administration and disposition of any equity so received in its sole discretion, provided that any net proceeds deriving from the equity received will be distributed as license proceeds in the manner described above.
Proposed Patent Policy
Summary of Key Changes

The proposed patent policy was drafted in order to keep the University’s policy consistent with the best practices identified by the Association of American Universities (AAU) Guidelines and after a thorough review of similar policies at other leading public research universities. Below are the key changes that are being made.

Affirmative Assignment
This is a small change needed to address the interpretation of the Stanford University v. Roche Molecular Systems, Inc. case by the U.S. Supreme Court and changes in patent law (American Invents Act, 2011). The existing MSU patent policy is silent on affirmative assignment of University Inventions. The new policy clarifies this in Section III to state “All individuals subject to this Policy are (a) obligated agree to assign and do assign” University Inventions to MSU. While a small legal detail, it can be problematic if there is ever a dispute over ownership of a University invention that becomes the subject of litigation.

Student Intellectual Property (IP)
The existing policy did not explicitly address ownership of student IP. This caused some confusion in interpretation of the following sentence in the existing patent policy: “.c) has been developed in whole or in part through the utilization of University resources or facilities not available to the general public shall belong to the University (‘University Inventions’).” Since dormitories, classrooms, and the like are not available to the general public, does this imply that IP developed by students in classroom projects or participation in entrepreneurial education belong to the University? This is clearly not the intent nor the desired outcome. The proposed policy clarifies in Section II(b) that students own their IP unless one of the three university ownership qualifiers (Section II(a) of the proposed policy) is triggered.

Example:

Student develops a flying drone in the context of working with fellow students in a “builders day” entrepreneurial event - no university ownership triggers, the student owns this IP.

A graduate student working as a research assistant under the direction of her professor supported by an NSF grant create a new transgenic plant – Ownership triggers (i) supported by funds administered by university, and (ii) developed in whole or in part through university facilities are both present, therefore University owns this IP.

The companion handbook provides more details to assist with administration of student IP.

Minimum Inventors Royalty Share
In the existing patent policy, the minimum royalty share for university inventors is 20% on net licensing revenues between $505,000 and $1,005,000, and is 15% on net licensing revenues over $1,005,000. This current standard is out of the mainstream. In the proposed patent policy, the inventors’ royalty share of 30% on net licensing revenues over $100,000 is in the mainstream of CIC schools and other best practice schools. In reality, this applies to only a very small number of licenses.
IP Created in the context of Outside Work for Pay

The University recognizes that, through consulting and other relationships with government, industry, not-for-profit organizations, and others outside the University, its faculty members can make valuable contributions off campus while enhancing their expertise in their discipline. Inventions made in the course of University-sanctioned outside work for pay (OWP) can lead to conflicts. Faculty members who consult for industry or hold temporary industry jobs (e.g. summer work) are likely to be asked to assign ownership of inventions to their industry client or employer.

While in the current policy (Section II(c)), we implicitly claim the rights to inventions made in the course of OWP, in reality we do not see any invention disclosures to MSU from OWP activities. The proposed policy provides clarity for cases where the faculty member is working on the solutions to a company problem and may be creating IP that may belong to the company in the course of solving the problem. By requiring that all such IP is disclosed, we provide for greater compliance and transparency and increase the likelihood that we are capturing all University inventions.

University May Not Assert Ownership

The current patent policy is silent on the situation when the University may choose not to assert ownership to University inventions to which it might otherwise be entitled to when it is deemed to be in the best interest of the University to forego its ownership claim. The silence on this matter is a source of frequent angst and confusion when it is implied that the University must claim ownership on all inventions in many situations when it is contrary to our interests to do so or be in violation of the MSU patent policy.

As a land grant university, MSU seeks to maximize its impact in teaching, research, and society engagement. Accordingly, there are circumstances when it is in the University’s interest not to assert ownership:

- Testing services provided by MSU to industry partners such as clinical trials, agricultural field trials, process verification studies and process scale-up studies (e.g. Michigan BioEconomy Institute);
- OWP arrangements when the faculty member is working on a project where the company owns all of the background IP, and the IP created during the project is unrelated to the faculty member’s research and scholarly work at MSU.
- When faculty are working with companies that have licensed MSU technology in order to improve the effectiveness of the licensed technology toward a commercial outcome. Under such circumstances, where the primary purpose of the outside-work-for-pay is to enhance the technology transfer of the licensed IP, and the invention is an improvement on a technology already licensed from MSU to the company under a license agreement in good standing, MSU may not assert ownership to inventions by faculty who are named inventors. This change removes a major obstacle inhibiting venture capital investments in MSU startups.
Exceptions to Policy
The current patent requires any exceptions or interpretations of the Policy to be authorized by the President of the University. In the proposed policy, the VPRGS in consultation with the President, may authorize exceptions to the policy.
