3. President’s Report

   A. Start of School Year

   President Simon said MSU welcomed approximately 46,000 students to campus, including 7,370 incoming first year students, more than 2,000 new graduate students, and over 1,300 new transfer students. A series of fall welcome events have occurred for the student and faculty.

   President Simon thanked Provost Wilcox, Vice President Poston, Vice President June, and Assistant Vice President Gore for an exceptional move-in. There was a great excitement among students and faculty at the new Residential College in the Arts and Humanities. President Simon noted that she also visited freshman business students at Shaw Hall who are part of a new residential program there. She received many positive comments from students and parents as she helped with the move-in activities.

B. Year of Arts and Culture

President Simon announced that this academic year has been declared the Year of Arts and Culture. Among the many planned activities are the Wharton Center’s 25th anniversary celebration, the opening of the Residential College in Arts and Humanities, and ground breaking for the Eli and Edythe Broad Art Museum.

C. Hispanic Heritage Month

President Simon stated that September 15 is the beginning of Hispanic Heritage Month. This offers an opportunity for the MSU community to learn about the culture, and explore the many contributions, of Hispanic Americans.

D. Rosh Hashanah

President Simon noted that the evening of September 12 marks the beginning of the Jewish New Year. This is an important event for the MSU community. President Simon acknowledged Trustee Owen as MSU’s first Jewish, female Trustee.

E. Campus Sustainability Leadership Awards

President Simon said that MSU was recognized by the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education for making environmental stewardship a major component of the campus vision. The university received the Campus Sustainability Leadership Award for its commitment to annual reductions of two percent in its greenhouse gas emissions, to meet LEED standards for new buildings, and to academic programs and research initiatives related to sustainability.

F. State Budget

President Simon asked Vice President Webster to comment on the State Budget.
Vice President Webster said that as the fiscal year for the State of Michigan comes to a close, the Michigan constitution requires that a budget be put into place. If the list of cuts supplied by the Senate is passed, MSU would not receive the restoration of the $26 million August appropriation that was withheld by the State of Michigan and was promised to be paid to MSU by October 17, 2007. The more distressing news is that the budget deficit estimated for the following year exceeds one billion dollars.

Vice President Webster noted that compromise usually occurs in the preparation of the budget. That could take the form of a temporary income tax increase with some budget cuts and reforms. The potential impact on universities’ appropriations is not clear.

President Simon said that some may argue that the advocacy for MSU and for the University Research Corridor is simply self-serving and another example of the “me too” aspects of the budget negotiation process. As the report from the Anderson Economic Group indicates, the three universities with medical schools in Michigan had a direct impact of well over 12 billion dollars to the State of Michigan. These universities must be viewed as vehicles for getting more money into the State in terms of research grants and contracts.

G. Truman Scholarship Honors Institution Award Presentation

President Simon introduced Fred Slabach, Executive Secretary of the Truman Foundation, and Cynthia Jackson-Elmore, Associate Professor, School of Social Work, and Dean-designate of the Honors College, pending approval later in the meeting, for the presentation of the Truman Scholarship Honors Institution Award.

Ms. Jackson-Elmore said that on behalf of the Honors College, she would like to introduce Mr. Fred Slabach, Executive Secretary of the Truman Foundation. She noted that Mr. Slabach was a Truman Scholar and graduate with high honors.

Mr. Slabach said that on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Harry Truman Scholarship Foundation and President Madeline Albright, it is an honor to present MSU with the Truman Scholarship Honors Institution Award. The Truman Scholarship Foundation is the sole federal memorial to the 33rd president of the U.S. The Foundation was established in 1975 with the goal of providing scholarship awards to students who were interested pursuing careers in public service.
Mr. Slabach stated that due to the very competitive nature of the scholarship, it is highly unusual for any one college or university to have a number of its students selected as Truman Scholars. MSU has had 15 Truman Scholars selected over the years. This is a truly amazing record that the university should be proud of. The respective missions of the Truman Scholarship Foundation and MSU are similar in that they further President Truman’s vision that free and inquiring minds with unlimited access to the sources of knowledge can be architects of a peaceful and prosperous world.

4. There was no Public Participation on Issues Germane to the Agenda.

Trustee Ferguson moved to approve the recommendations, with support from Trustee Owen.

Provost Wilcox recommended the continued appointment of Stephen Esquith as Acting Dean of the Residential College in Arts and Humanities. The process for appointing deans relies heavily on faculty. Now that faculty have been appointed, the intent is to begin discussions about a permanent appointment for dean.

Provost Wilcox said that Cynthia Jackson-Elmore is currently an Associate Professor of Social Work at MSU. She has a Ph.D. in public administration from the University of Southern California. Trustee Foster moved to approve the recommendation, with support from Trustee Owen.

President Simon said that MSU has had the benefit of Ron Mason’s leadership as Director of Intercollegiate Athletics over the past four years. The position requires a special blend of business skills and integrity.
There is an expectation for the department to be self-sustaining, if not profitable. In addition, it is extremely important that the department have not only a culture of compliance, but be an exemplar as it relates to the values of MSU.

President Simon complimented the Trustees on their engagement and understanding of the role of intercollegiate athletics at MSU. She thanked Trustees Foster, McNamara, and Perles for their contributions as the Board subcommittee that advised her on this matter.

Trustee Foster said that President Simon had asked the Chairperson of the Board to form a subcommittee to advise her in connection with the selection of an athletic director. The committee spoke with various constituents and established a list of desirable criteria. It became clear that Mark Hollis met all of the established criteria for the next athletic director.

Trustee Ferguson said that Mark Hollis will be an excellent athletic director for MSU and that the best years are to come. Sometimes the best candidate is already at the institution. Mark Hollis not only understands the MSU culture, he wants to be here.

Trustee Owen said she has been very impressed by Mark Hollis and believes MSU is lucky to have him as its next athletic director.

Trustee Nugent said that some people may think the established criteria were drawn up to fit Mark Hollis. That is not the case. The criteria were drawn up as what the Board wanted in an athletic director; Mark Hollis fit the criteria and will do an excellent job.

Trustee Gonzales said she believed Mark Hollis to be a great choice for athletic director.

Trustee Perles said that he expects to have fun, win games, and have a clean program with Mark Hollis as athletic director. He feels very confident that good things are ahead for MSU.

Eric Hinojosa, Student Liaison, said his first meeting with Mark Hollis involved fund raising for Hurricane Katrina victims. Mark listened to the ideas presented and then amplified on those to help raise money. This is indicative of how Mark Hollis works. He listens to students and has always gone above and beyond what was expected.
